CALIFORNIA.

SANTA BARBARA, May 10, '90.

DEAR INTERIOR--Well, I've seen the great grape vine, of which I had heard so much, and it well repays one for the trip of five miles to get a look at it. Montecito, where it flourishes, is a pretty little settlement in a pretty little valley, where nearly all the fruit sold in Santa Barbara is raised. The trunk of the vine at its largest point is 4 1/2 feet in circumference, and not being exactly round is two feet through one way and about 15 inches the other. Its branches cover an arbor 75 feet square (and would cover a larger space if there was more arbor), and has produced 5 tons of grapes in a single season. One can hardly conceive of a vine of such dimensions, so I determined to see it and measure it for myself.

While people are running wild over orange culture, they are overlooking the lemon crop, which I venture to say will be the better paying one in five years. Beautiful lemons can be raised in Southern California, and when properly cured are superior to any except the Messina. Being almost a necessity, as well as a luxury, while oranges are only a luxury, their consumption is far greater. Besides being used in the hotels and many private families and in sickness every day in the year, during hot weather millions are consumed in the different fine drinks which they are capable of making. Then, too, the prices are always good, especially from the middle of June to October, during which time I've known them to be scarce at $9 per box. California lemons are the one to supply the demand at that season, for they ripen late and are not in their prime till they've lain in the shade a hundred days, covered with chaff, which treatment makes them more juicy and softens and reduces the thickness of the rinds.

This also is one of the boom towns of Southern California, and during those memorable years nearly all the fine dwellings here were built. While not very numerous, there are some as fine as are to be found in any town of this size. Somehow, in these boom towns, the fine dwellings always impress me with the idea that those who built them wish they hadn't been such fools as to put everything they had in a house, for it is a fact that lots of people in Southern California have nothing else, and often they are mortgaged. One of the most elegant and beautiful buildings (which cost $40,000) occupies the crest of a high hill, overlooking the ocean, and the view is a lovely one, the four Santa Barbara Islands to the south looming up splendidly in the distance. The islands being very mountainous, are fit only for sheep ranches.

Six miles from Santa Barbara, at an elevation of 1,450 feet, on the mountain side, are numerous hot springs, the temperatures ranging from 114° to 118°. The place is a considerable resort for the afflicted.

The citizens of this country are feeling good over the prospect of two through lines of railway. Huntington, who was recently made president of the Southern Pacific, says the gap of 125 miles in that road between here and San Francisco must be built this summer; and as the S. P. and Santa Fe have had a little fuss about the transfer of the latter's passengers from Los Angeles to San Francisco, the Santa Fe has decided to extend its line, and the people here confidently expect they will build through the valley near the coast, as that is the richest part of the State, and is far preferable to the San Joaquin Valley on account of the dust and intense heat of the latter route in summer.

The biggest orange tale I have yet heard comes from Highlands, in San Bernardino county. A man named Cram says that, from one acre of seedling orange trees, he sold last season $1,800 worth of oranges. Don't think he'll be able to Cram that down many people. It is estimated that the output of prunes alone this year will be 25,000,000 pounds. One firm in the East has already ordered 300 tons of the next crop. A gentleman of Long Beach is planting out 1,250 pine-apples. The plants were brought from Florida. The San Diego Land Co. has planted this spring 200,000 orange trees on their Chula Vista ranch. A man at Ontario is extracting by distillation, the oil of orange blossoms. It is worth $4 an ounce.

I leave California for Kentucky next Wednesday, hoping to arrive at Stanford about a week from that time.

T. R. WALTON.

SACRAMENTO, May 14, '90.

DEAR INTERIOR--Arrived here this morning by the Southern Pacific and leave to-night via Omaha and Chicago for Stanford. The journey from Santa Barbara is one of considerable interest. Striking the main line of the S. P. at Sanguis, in Los Angeles county, the road runs for some distance thro' the San Bernardino mountains, then into the Mojave desert, and after entering that barren waste commences the ascent to Tehachapi Pass, nearly 4,100 feet high, and after reaching that height descends over the famous loop into the Kern Valley, a large area of table land, not very fertile, being high and rather too dry.

After this comes another chain of mountains, from which we emerge into the great San Joaquin Valley, the largest of them all, and for the most part fine farming land, with here and there an area specially adapted to fruits, and grapes in particular. Fresno, one of the best and most thriving towns in Southern California, is the great raisin centre and several other places in the valley produce big crops of fruit. Immense fields of wheat and barley are seen all along, and a 1,000-acre crop is considered a small one. Some of these big farmers sow from 10,000 to 15,000 of grain. I have seen nine six-horse plows running on one "land," cutting about four or five furrows each. The wheat is green yet and doesn't look as if it would do to cut before the first of June. As I wrote before, the heads only are cut, as the great quantity of straw is of no use except to plow under.

The Southern Pacific has been compelled to build 20 miles of new road along the old line this side of Sanguis on account of the streams changing their course and washing away or threatening the road-bed. This had to be made thro' a rough country, too, and was a heavy expense. Chinese do all the work on railroad construction.

From Lathrop to this place the route is mostly through the Sacramento Valley, a very fine farming and fruit country; and judging from the amount of water and the dampness of the land, there will not be much need of irrigation this season at least. All along here the beautiful liveoak grows to perfection, as do also the locust and the cottonwood. Trees are one of the greatest factors in enhancing the beauty of this country. As a general thing they are mighty scarce, except around the towns.

This brings me to Sacramento, among the prettiest of California cities, with a population of about 25,000. Having good railroad and water facilities, it is a place of no mean business importance. A large amount of fruits, &c., is packed here. It is to a great degree a residence city, and there are some lovely homes. The State capitol is a grand building and modeled very much after the order of the national capitol at Washington. It contains 60 rooms. It is built of stone and granite and has a number of statues along the top of the walls, on each side of the dome. There is one of especially fine work in the middle of the room under the dome, representing Isabella assuring Columbus that he should sail in search of the new world even if she had to pawn her jewels to raise the necessary funds. This very costly piece was presented to the State by Mr. Mills. The grounds are large and just the loveliest imaginable, so beautifully terraced and set with grass and dotted with trees and flowers. The view from the top of the dome is very fine and takes in the valley for many miles around, the Sacramento river (which is on a high just now), the snow-covered Sierra Nevada mountains, the Coast Range and Mt. Diablo. On a perfectly clear day I suppose the ocean might be seen with the aid of a glass.

The other buildings of interest are the Permanent State Fair and the government buildings for post-office, &c., and the Catholic church. The last is the finest and largest of the kind I have yet seen. Both the interior and exterior are magnificent. The large dome rising from its centre and the tall, graceful spire from its front attract the attention of every visitor. It is always open to those who wish to see the costly furnishings of the inside.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Eld. Stanley's meeting at London had 6 additions.

—Rev. R. E. Caldwell held a protracted meeting at Richmond which brought 30 souls into the fold.

—The Mercury says that Rev. Dr. Scudder, of Carlisle, had 30 additions to his two-weeks' meeting at Pine Bluff, Ark.

—Rev. James Kerr and his wife were drowned in Boykin creek, Sumpter, Ala., while on his way to preach at a church in the country.

—Revs. W. L. Williams and John Bell (Gibson exchange pulpits next Sunday the former preaching here and the latter at Turnersville, morning and evening.

—The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage is a drawing card upon the platform. He is to receive $10,000 for 20 lectures with Chautauqua assemblies this summer.

—Dr. C. R. Hemphill, of the Kentucky Synod, was defeated 56 to 73 by Dr. Jas. Park, of the Nashville Synod, for moderator of the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church, in session at Asheville, N. C.

—REV. GEORGE W. DUNLAP and wife with their five children have returned to Independence for the summer. They spent the winter very pleasantly on Sanibel Island, Fla., where Mr. Dunlap has secured a homestead.

—Rev. W. Y. Sheppard, of Harrodsburg, preached a doctrinal sermon at the College Chapel Friday night to an attentive audience. He will be with us again the 3d of June, when he will preach, perhaps, in the court-house.

—Sunday was children's day at the Methodist church and that Sunday-school enjoyed the largest attendance for years. The collection from the school alone was nearly $5, which was augmented considerably by the visitors present.

—The annual conference of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church for Kentucky, which was to have been held in Winchester, June 7, has been deferred until June 14. This was done to prevent a conflict with the Kentucky Press meeting, but that has also been deferred until June 25th.

—The Bible Cause Committee of the Southern Methodist General Conference reported the following statistics of the American Bible Society work: Receipts during the past quadrennium, $2,129,558; disbursements, $2,146,180. During the four years the society has distributed 5,888,420 copies of the Bible. During its entire existence it has distributed 52,776,675 copies. The agents of the society found in the United States 757,000 families without Bibles and supplied them.

—The general committee of the General Conference of the Methodist church, now taking place in St. Louis, has refused to substitute the word "man" for "husband" in the marriage ceremony, but we can't see that this much of a question to quarrel about. The same body changed the degree of offense committed by a member of the church, who encourages the liquor traffic by renting property for saloons and signing petitions for licenses from "imprudence" as now designated in the discipline to "immorality."

—We were very glad to renew the acquaintance of Rev. W. Y. Sheppard, the earnest and devout Episcopal minister who is located now at Harrodsburg. He was formerly of Richmond, Va., and a great friend of our father's family. When we first knew him he was a very rich man, but unfortunate speculations swept his fortune away and turned his attention from money matters and worldly affairs to the higher and better aim of man, and he became an Episcopal minister, for which both his education and training fitted him. He is now a very successful minister, doing much good for the cause of his Master, in whose service he so greatly delights. He thinks that the sweeping away of his fortune was the best thing that could have happened for him spiritually, though hard to suffer in a human sense.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—WANTED.—100,000 pounds of wool. A. T. Nunnell, Stanford.

—I have two yoke heavy, well broke work cattle for sale. J. M. Reid.

—The Sun says that wheat is selling at Versailles at 75 to 87; wool at 23 and corn at $2.25.

—Johnson, of Boyle, bought of J. D. Myers and T. M. Lillard a car-load of 2 and 3-year-old cattle at 2 1/2 cts.

—Jno. Wagers & Co., bought from the Silver Creek Distilleries 96 sloop bulls at 2 and 3 cents per pound.—Register.

—The Italian regie contract this year will call for 19,000 hogsheads of tobacco. The purchase will be adjudicated in Rome on the 31st inst.

—Castaway II., classed as "cattle from the winter tracks," won the great Brooklyn Handicap from the Eastern brooks in a common canter.

—John Hill sold to Jones, of Cairo, Ill., a 3-year-old saddle gelding for $250, and J. H. Dunn, of Garrard, sold to same party a combined mare for $300.

—Frances Dunlap, of Montpelier, Idaho, has a trained moose that he is anxious to match against a trotting horse for a race of a mile for $100. Ty-Ball, the moose, has a trotting record of 3:30 and can go much faster.

—Will Pepples and James Anderson are the boss sheep shearers in these diggings. They sheared 92 by 4 o'clock Friday and say they could have easily got away with 115 to 120 if the sheep hadn't given out. They get 4 cents a head for shearing.

—Capt. John C. May realized 27,338 pounds of White Burley from 13 acres on his Bourbon county farm, over four-fifths of which brought 10 cents per pound, and the balance 4 cents, giving him a total of $2,445, or $188 per acre.—Western Tobacco Journal.

—E. W. Lee bought of Forestus Reid 32 cattle, of James A. Harris & Co. 132, of Farris Sandridge 18 and of Wash Eastland 8. The price paid was 4 1/2 to 4 3/4 cents. These cattle are all select export stock and were bought for Lehman Bros., of Baltimore, Md. Thomas Wood bought of Rice & Fox 60 head of 1,200-pound sloop-fed cattle at 4 1/2 cts. This lot were slopped at Mock's distillery.—Advocate.

—The Uncle Tom's Cabin Co., which played in Louisville last week, drew so poorly that it was forced to throw up the sponge. The miserable old chestnut ought to be prohibited by law.

—The city council of Covington has ordained that hereafter no pools shall be sold in the city and making it punishable by a fine of from $50 to $100 heretofore to sell or make pools on horse races, and providing that for each offense the maker or seller shall be arrested by the police and tried before the mayor.

—Twenty-seven men were entombed by the caving in of a mine operated by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company near Ashley, Pa. The scene at the mine as 19 dead and charred bodies were being brought out was heartrending in extreme. Men, women and children shrieked and groaned and fell upon their knees, lifting their hands and their eyes toward heaven and prayed for the dead.

Mr. DAVID LOGAN has been down several days with rheumatism.
Mr. J. B. FOSTER has been down several days with a malarial attack.
Miss JENNIE BROADBENT, of Richmond, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Jane Barrow.
Misses MAMIE and JENNIE JOHNSTON, of Hustonville, are visiting Miss Laura Dudderar.
Mrs. M. SALINGER will leave today for a two-weeks' visit to her father, Mr. J. D. Hayes, in Louisville.
Col. W. G. WELCH went up Sunday to see about his investments in Pineville and other booming towns.
GEORGE RAMSEY, of Lexington and Frank McKinney, of Danville, spent Sunday with their parents here.
Capt. H. B. JESSE, the efficient and obliging chief clerk of the R. M. S., was here Saturday seeing after the postal affairs.
Mrs. WILL CRAIG is quite sick and her recovery is almost despaired of.—Carline Mercury. Private advices later received say she is better.
Mrs. COLEMAN received a letter yesterday from Bro. Barnes asking that his mail be sent to Meridian, Miss., till the 25th and after that to Covington.
Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCARTY, Miss Rose McCarty, Mrs. Dr. W. R. O'Bannon, Mrs. W. B. Coleman, all of Kingsville, attended the meeting at Goshen Saturday.
Mr. JOHN FERGUSON, a good carpenter, of Lincoln county, has come to Somerset to work at his trade. He will bring his family here this fall.—Somerset Republican.

Mr. W. B. McROBERTS will go up to Richmond tomorrow to attend the meeting of the Kentucky Pharmaceutical Association of which he is vice-president.

Mrs. J. I. McKINNEY, Mrs. H. J. McRoberts, Miss Mattie Paxton and Mr. J. B. Paxton spent Friday and Saturday of last week with Miss Bettie Paxton, in Louisville.

Dr. J. G. CARPENTER left yesterday morning for Nashville to attend the American Medical Association, before which body he reads a paper on "Intestinal Obstruction."

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. O'BRYEN left yesterday for Cleveland, O., where Mr. O'B. goes as a delegate to the Station Agents' Convention. Mr. J. A. Carpenter, also a delegate, was too unwell to go.

Rev. J. M. BRUCE came on here from the Baptist convention at Fort Worth, Texas, and took his wife home yesterday. He tells us that the L. & N. paid him $2,500 for the injuries he sustained in a wreck on the main line last year.

Mr. T. R. WALTON is expected to arrive from California in a day or two. His friends will welcome him back with much satisfaction, regretting at the same time that the object of his trip was not fully realized—the restoration of his health.

C. E. GENTRY, of Oklahoma, arrived Sunday in response to a dispatch telling him that his little daughter Louise was at the point of death. She has meningitis and the doctors say there is no hope for her recovery. Mr. Gentry has had his share of trouble in the last few years, having lost his wife and his two other children. LATER. The little girl died at noon yesterday at Mrs. Mary E. Gentry's and will be buried in Buffalo Cemetery this afternoon.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Two fine setter pups for sale. McAllister Hays.

THE West End people have decided to have a fair this year and stock is already being solicited for that purpose. Their previous efforts bespeak for them much success.

THE democratic convention here Saturday afternoon was so thinly attended that it might have been taken for a prohibition gathering. There were just 30 persons present.

THE special train of seven sleepers, engine and all handsomely decorated, containing the passenger agents and their newspaper friends, in all 232 people, passed up to Middleboro a little after noon Saturday.

HALE'S WELL.—This popular summer resort will open on Saturday, June 14th, and on the 20th of the same month there will be a grand hop. Dance called promptly at 8:30 and all are invited. A. L. Spoonamore, proprietor.

TOM WARREN, a brakeman on through freight 32, had a hand badly mashed while coupling cars at London Friday morning.

WHEAT.—I wish to buy in the next 25 or 30 days 4,000 bushels of wheat. Call on or address me at the Stanford Roller Mills. T. J. Foster, Supt.

THE Liberty Press says that G. M. Ellis, who killed John Brown, in Casey, two years ago, was arrested at Kingsville and brought there to await trial. He is now in jail.

BOYLE, Lincoln, Garrard, Madison, Mercer, Laurel and Whitley in this immediate section instructed for Matt Adams for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Rockcastle and Pulaski instructed for Mr. M. F. Brinkley, of Louisville.

BURDET BLANKS is again in jail. He was bailed out by Mr. Joel Embury, of Madison, but instead of requiring his benefactor, he ran off with his cook and left nobody to prepare Mr. Embury's meals. That gentleman didn't like that way of doing business, so the first time he got hold of the darkey he turned him over to the jailer. Blanks, it will be remembered, shot another negro named Lige Maret.

THE Kentucky Medical Society re-elected Dr. Steele Bailey secretary and Dr. J. B. Kinnaird, of Lancaster, treasurer. Dr. Hawkins Brown, of Hustonville, was chosen chairman of the board of censors.

Dr. George W. Esler, of Clinton, was elected president and Lexington selected for the next place of meeting. A very elaborate banquet and ball were given the doctors at Henderson, which they speak of in very complimentary terms.

FROM STORY.—Mr. M. N. DePauw, who has been breaking up some rocks for the purpose of supplying the turnpike near his place, came across a wonder a few days since. Imbedded in a boulder some 3 feet in diameter, which he had drilled and broken into, a live frog was discovered. How it got there and how it subsisted without nourishment for the years it must have remained there, is not known, but the moment the air struck the little prisoner he leaped forth and with the exception of being a little thin, looked like the long confinement had done him no material damage.

WE observed a rather comical occurrence in church the other Sunday. A young lady was busily engaged in chewing gum, when the deacon came around with the sacrament. Forgetting the quid she took a piece of bread and put it in her mouth with the gum. They did not mix well and after a considerable effort she gave up the job and spat the whole business out. This ought to teach the ladies that it is not proper to chew gum in church. A preacher said recently that the habit made him so nervous while preaching that he could with difficulty restrain himself from throwing the goblet from the pulpit at the offenders. Look out, young ladies, or you will get your craniums cracked.

DROWNED.—A few evenings ago, Major Hays, a son of Brent Hays, the colored politician, drove two yoke of oxen to Dix River to water them. The yoke in front were connected to the one behind by a chain. They were not well broke and when the boy attempted to turn them around they started to run and he was thrown into the water by being caught by the chain. The river was swollen and the boy being unable to swim soon sank. Isaac Hays, an old man, who was in sight, saw him rise three times to the surface and then disappear finally. Search was immediately made for the body, but it was not found after two days' effort. Major was the drummer in the Renetown Brass Band and was a well-behaved boy of 18 years. It is said that he makes the 4th person to be drowned at the same point.

LOST HIS BUTTER.—When Mr. T. M. Pennington came up to take the train for Middleboro Friday morning, he set a bucket containing about 25 pounds of butter, which he intended to take to his son Bourne, on the steps of the Myers House while he went in to while away a few spare moments. His object for leaving the butter on the outside was to keep it cool, but it will be a cool day when he finds whether or not his idea was effectual. Some heartless scoundrel, who liked his bread buttered on both sides, happened along in a very opportune time and his hands of course stuck to the bucket. Mr. Pennington found that he had been unfairly dealt with and proceeded to hunt for the thief and his treasure, but nothing has been heard or seen of either. Marshal Newland has the case in hand now, but it is very probable that the butter will lose at least some of its freshness ere it reaches Bourne at the Magic City.

THE colored brethren had a big baptizing Sunday, when some 20-odd had their sins washed away in Squire Portman's ice pond.

THE public sale of lots in Barboursville has been fixed for June 25 and 26. Until May 28th 100 lots will be on the market at private sale.

THE wind blew a tree across the telegraph wires in Laurel, Saturday, which gave rise to a report that a terrible cyclone had visited the section.

AFTER a very windy and dusty Sunday it began to rain Sunday night and all day yesterday it came down in showers. We are bound to make up for this waste of water this summer.

THE large hemp warehouse of J. Hansbury West, at Hyattsville, burned Saturday afternoon entailing a loss of $5,500, upon which there was no insurance. Besides 3,000 pounds of hemp, $150 worth of hemp seed was burned.

GARRARD COUNTY is to have a stock fair this year at the time fixed for the Kirksville fair, which will not be held. Judge W. E. Walker has been elected president and J. R. Marrs secretary and a sufficient amount of stock subscribed to insure a first-class show.

THE Somerset sale of lots commences today and the C. S. will sell tickets very low. Somerset is no mushroom town. It has nearly everything to insure it a great future. Oil has been found in immense quantities and coal, natural gas, iron, timber, &c., abound.

THE citizens of Rowland will have an election for police judge and a board of trustees on the 11th. Judge T. L. Shelton will not stand for re-election, but his place is hotly contested by Willis Barnett, Joe Chancy and Preacher Early, with the chances in favor of the latter.

THE commencement exercises of Garrard College will begin May 31 and close June 4. The graduating class is composed of the following young ladies: Misses Mattie Elkin, Adie Yelzer, Maggie Miller, Jennie Anderson and Mary Miller. Miss Elkin will please accept the local thanks for remembrance.

HOS. D. G. COLSON, who was the republican candidate for mayor of Middletown, is very sore over his defeat and sent for his friend, Col. W. O. Bradley, to get his opinion as to whether he should contest. We are not apprised as to the colonel's advice, but we suppose Mr. Colson will take his medicine after protesting and making a few wry faces.

SIDNEY MANLEY, the 18-year-old son of a Methodist preacher, near Parksville, made the usual mistake in thinking that the gun was unloaded and blew in it to see if he could force air through the tube. Of course the weapon was loaded and went off as much as a matter of course. He received the entire discharge in his mouth, tearing off the top of his head and killing him instantly.

THE proceedings of the co-operative meeting, held at Goshen Saturday, appears elsewhere in this issue. Turnersville and McCormacks churches were out in large force, while numerous other churches were well represented, carrying the attendance far into the hundreds. The day was delightfully and profitably spent and the people of the Land of Goshen again demonstrated their ability and desire to entertain. The dinner was both comprehensive and abundant and was greatly enjoyed.

JIM TALL, the fightingest coon in the State, turned from his wicked ways and launched into society Sunday, but came out in not half so good a trim as he usually does after a cutting or shooting scrape. He had a couple of his lady friends and was turning the corner of Lancaster and Main when his fiery steed got the best of him and landed the occupants on the ground with a dull thud. The women were not damaged, but Tall's heels struck first and the consequence is he is considerably "worse for wear."

CORN THIEVES.—Wednesday night last as he was returning from Junction City, Robert L. Vanyo saw three men at the corn crib of Mr. J. H. Pardon, two of whom he recognized as Sterling Ward and Wm. Preston. He afterwards saw them each with a sack of corn on his back and on his statement the two men were arrested and lodged in jail here. Yesterday the charge of house-breaking against them was tried, when it was proved that the pen had been prized open and about a barrel of corn taken. It was also proved that 41 bushels of corn were found in Black's Branch, in which were also found 307 cobs. It is supposed that the men seeing that they had been discovered, took that method of hiding their crime. The defendants, who are about as tough a looking pair as ever appeared at a bar of justice, swore that they were out that night on a mission of mercy not connected with corn, and that they did not see Mr. Vanyo. They were defended by Mr. W. E. Varnon and prosecuted by D. R. Carpenter and J. B. Paxton. The former argued that the offense was not house breaking under the statute and Judge Carson also took that view and held the men for petit larceny. Both of the men have wives and large families and their shiftless, lazy mode of living has frequently brought them under suspicion in the numerous thefts that have been committed in that locality.

In the afternoon the men were tried before Judge Varnon and jury and acquitted.

AT Lebanon, Mr. Alfonso Ricketts, a Louisville drummer, fell with his arm across the railroad track, Saturday night, just in front of a train, which ran over it, mashing it so that amputation was necessary.

A LITTLE son of Mr. R. G. Jones fell from a table Saturday night, and striking his head against a vessel, it broke and cut him badly in several places on the head and face. Dr. Carpenter patched the little sufferer up and he will soon be all right.

LOGAN'S CHECK NOTES.—Mr. Porter Robinson purchased of Mrs. Nancy Logan, her farm of 25 acres, lying on the Lancaster pike, for $500. Mrs. Logan has moved to town. K. C. section boss, Dave Collier, killed four mad dogs Tuesday near Gilbert's Creek. It is said that W. H. Traylor had a fine mare bitten by one the same day. R. E. Gaines, while attempting to work a young mule, got his foot hung in a trace and was severely hurt about the thigh.

—The Senate passed the gerrymander bill as originally drawn, except that Harrison is taken from the 7th and placed in the 9th and Washington is kept in the 4th.
—The wife of Mr. C. E. Bond, a Lawrenceburg merchant, surprised him the other day by the presentation of triplets, two boys and a girl, all alive and kicking vigorously.

STANFORD ROLLER MILL CO.,
Stanford, Ky.

FOR SALE.
HOTEL PROPERTY.

Being desirous, on account of my old age, of retiring from business, I offer for sale privately my one-half interest in the Hotel now occupied by me (formerly called the St. Asaph in Stanford, Ky.), and also the furniture and fixtures.
The Hotel is most obligingly located on Main street, in the center of business, has a large and desirable patronage and is doing a profitable business. It is a substantial brick building of over 30 rooms, with two store rooms for merchandising, a good stable and other appointments.
Also a store house and lot in Hustonville, Ky.
Stanford is a prosperous town with a population of 1,200, rapidly increasing, in a prosperous section, has two railroads with prospects for more, is a good place for Hotel business, and a desirable community to reside in.
Terms and further particulars may be had by addressing Miller & Owsley, attorneys, or myself.
M. C. PORTMAN, Stanford.

Farm For Sale.

I offer for sale privately my Farm known as the old Lewis Lewis place, near the Stanford and Lancaster pike, and running nearly to Dix River, containing 112 Acres. It is well improved, has good crops, and the land is in a fine state of cultivation. Call on or address me at Gilbert's Creek, Ky.
S. L. WITHERS.

Livery Stable.

I have added new buggies, wagons and horses to my livery business, making my stable second to none in this section. First-class turnouts on short notice and feeding by the day, week or month at speciality.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE:

Geo. K. DUCKWORTH, J. N. BROWN, R. N. ARCHER, O. S. WIGGINS,
Capital and Natural Resources Join Hand in Hand. The Dawn of a New Era of Prosperity.

The Dream of Enthusiasm Crystallized into Stubborn and Indisputable Facts.

Electric Street Car Lines, Water Works, Oil Refinery, Glass Factory and Planing Mill, all to be Erected and in Operation this Summer, and work will begin on these Enterprises at once.

Somerset is located on the C. S. R. R. and is a progressive and prosperous town of 3,500. Two Banks, showing a capital stock of $180,000, splendid Public Schools and other enterprises and institutions make her future exceedingly bright. H. Haerlin, the Great landscape artist, is about through the survey for a route of a street railway through the city, which will be operated either by steam or electricity. A complete system of water works, with reservoir, on Crescent Hill will be immediately constructed. The minerals in Pulaski county are noted for their purity and inexhaustible supply. The superior quality of sand and several oil wells are attracting the attention of wide-awake men and it will not be long till a glass factory and an oil refinery will be put into operation. The railroad facilities of Somerset are first-class. Eight passenger trains pass daily and being half way between Cincinnati and Chattanooga, it is the business point of the head officials of the Railroad Company, who will co-operate in the further development of the wonderful natural resources the grand county of Pulaski possesses. The Cincinnati, Alabama & Atlantic R. R. is now an assured fact, and passing as it will through Somerset, adds another to her many advantages.
